Spencer, IA – Seasons Center for Behavioral Health is hosting a free kids' carnival on Thursday, September 26, 2019 from 4-7 PM in Spencer. This free, family-friendly event is open to the entire community and families of all ages are welcome.

“The purpose of this carnival is to provide a fun-filled event for the whole community, while sharing resources that are available to those in need,” said Katie Ping, Marketing and Events Coordinator at Seasons Center. “We’ll have all of your carnival favorites like face painting, inflatables, some amazing prizes, concessions, and games!”

The kids' carnival will celebrate the three-year anniversary of the opening of Autumn's Center and promote positive mental health through a family-friendly event. Seasons Center for Behavioral Health has received funding from the Clay County Convention & Visitors Bureau and the Iowa Department of Public Health to host this kids' carnival at Autumn's Center.

“At Autumn's Center, children have a safe, secure and hope-filled environment so that they can recover from life's challenges,” said Kim Scorza, President/CEO of Seasons Center. “We are grateful for this funding from the Clay County Convention & Visitors Bureau and the Iowa Department of Public Health to reach out to our northwest Iowa communities.”

Autumn's Center has served 2,368 children since it opened in October of 2016.
