Seasons Center Receives Designation as Integrated Health Home Provider

Spencer, IA. – Seasons Center for Behavioral Health has been designated by Magellan Behavioral Health Services of Iowa as the Integrated Health Home (IHH) provider for adults and children in the following counties: Clay, Dickinson, Emmet, Lyon, Osceola, O’Brien, and Palo Alto.

An Integrated Health Home is a team-based health care delivery model that provides comprehensive, continuous care to people with the goal of obtaining maximized health outcomes. The community IHH is designed to utilize a team that includes nurses, social workers, and peer and family support specialists.

As an IHH provider, Seasons will deliver the following services using an individual/family-centered, strengths-based approach: comprehensive care management, care coordination using wraparound approach, health promotion and wellness prevention activities, comprehensive transitional care, Individual and family support services, referral to community and social support services.

IHH is an additional service available to Medicaid members. They can keep all existing services, such as therapies, medication management, Behavioral Health Intervention Services, and habilitation services. Members can receive their IHH care coordination activities from the team at Seasons, while still receiving services from one or several other mental health and substance abuse services agencies.

“We know that the need for care coordination services for children, adults, and families is growing, and we’re grateful for the opportunity to serve individuals within the seven designated counties,” says Christina Eggink-Postma, Director of Program Coordination and Compliance.
